Living in perpetual fear of being discovered, with all odds against them, defectors still do everything they can to leave. If arrested in communist Laos, they may be sent back to North Korea to face prison camp or worse. VICE joins a South Korean pastor who has developed a modern-day underground railroad to move defectors from China to freedom and eventual citizenship in South Korea. The most dangerous place in the world is Kashmir's line of control, which partially occupies the Indian state and separates India from Pakistan. Observers in both India and Pakistan believe the decades-old conflict between the two nations could potentially lead to the end of the world as we know it. VICE travels across Pakistan to the contested line of control in Kashmir, pointing out how close a nuclear apocalypse is yet again. (S.1 Ep.2) (From the US) (Documentary Series) (Rpt) PG(A,L)

- 3:20 pm Morgan Spurlock: Inside Man - Toxins - We're told toxins are everywhere: in the food we eat, in products we use to clean, even the furniture we sit on. But is the world we live in really poisoning us, or is the mass hysteria just a load of BS? Morgan Spurlock puts his own body and personal environment under the microscope, testing his personal body burden, monitoring his air quality, and taking an inventory of the chemicals he's ingesting. Armed with the results, Morgan attempts to detox, examining what he can do to reduce health risks. Can we truly flush these toxins out of our bodies and still exist in the modern world?
